The image displays a vertical strip of decorative patterns, likely from a digital font or a pattern library. It consists of four distinct rows of motifs, each row containing five individual designs. The motifs are rendered in black against a white background. Each design features a central, rounded, teardrop-like shape with a wavy, radiating pattern extending from its base, resembling a stylized leaf or petal. The patterns are arranged in a staggered, non-repeating sequence across the rows.

The image consists of three horizontal rows of black, rounded, and somewhat abstract shapes. The top row has a slight downward slope. The middle row is perfectly horizontal. The bottom row has a slight upward slope. Between the top and middle rows is a white rectangular area containing the text "SS04". Between the middle and bottom rows is another white rectangular area containing the text "SS05". The shapes in all three rows have small, sharp white stars or sparkles scattered across their surfaces.
